"Our teachers have been raving about Impero because it is exactly what they needed. It gives the teacher the ability to see what students are doing, correct them if they are not on task, and communicate what they are expected to do - all without raising your voice or calling attention to individual students. It is a teacher's dream come true. Classroom management took a giant step forward with Impero. I highly recommend it."

"The presentation I received on the Impero software was excellent. I learned a great deal and plan to follow all suggestions. Impero software is an excellent addition to our school system! This informational presentation provided a super forum for me to ask questions and voice opinions."

Thank you again for such an informative and pleasant morning."

"As the District Technology Director for our school system, this software is invaluable to me and my technical staff. The program is very user friendly from both an administrative perspective as well as a teacher/lab end user. It has provided an easy solution for our district to both monitor computers usage and perform administrative tasks such as software installation. We have been using the software for about a year now and have only begun to unleash the power of Impero. I would highly recommend Impero to anyone who is concerned about the safety of their users and needs an application for monitoring and directing user's computer behavior."

"Impero software has changed my job by making it easier and giving me the ability to multitask at my workspace. Kids can be experts at visiting inappropriate sites even when you're walking around the room in order to check for that very thing. Often times, I must be at my desk to catalogue or help students look up information. In the past, this was an invitation for trouble and wasted work time for the students working on the computers. Now, I can accomplish my computer work, while still helping the teachers facilitate the ethical practice of Internet research by their students. Because of Impero, productivity increases for everyone, including the librarian, the teacher, and the students."

"If you are looking for a classroom management program, this one has it all."

"We have been using Impero for a few months now, and the functionality is superb. The lab manager can keep better watch on what is going on in the lab, and is alerted when students stray onto sites that may be harmful. Instead of writing a URL on the board and relying on everyone to type it incorrectly, the lab manager can open the web page on all of the lab PCs with just a few clicks."

The staff at Accro are very helpful and quickly answer any questions we have, and offer lots of assistance and training. This is a great tool for anyone managing multiple PCs!"

"Impero is such a great tool. I can easily view and remote into computers across the whole network. Monitoring students is a hundred times easier than other products we have used. Logs are so detailed and easy to pull up. Impero makes so many things easier. Shutting down all the computers in the district is one of my many favorites. Definitely worth checking out!"

See what some of our existing customers think of Impero:

"We have been using Impero software for a little over 5 months in our high school computer labs and are extremely pleased with its functionality and performance. As any education technology professional knows, monitoring the use of computer and Internet resources presents a cumbersome problem for a classroom teacher. Allowing students the freedom to explore these resources for educational purposes opens the door to many common problems: inappropriate behaviour, time-wasting activity, and exposure to unacceptable content.

Our classroom teachers prefer Impero to other monitoring software, as it provides many features beyond simple monitoring, has automatic blocking and recording of policy violations and is extremely easy to use. While the teachers love it, perhaps the biggest evidence of Impero's success is that students absolutely hate it! With Impero, teachers are able to concentrate on teaching and students can now focus on their learning."

"I have found that the Impero Software program offers applications that I have been wanting to purchase or am currently using. Useful functions, such as remote access, web filtering, and monitoring inappropriate communications are important to network and classroom managers.

The Impero Software provides the functionality of a web filtering appliance. Administrator has the option to block inappropriate words or internet searches. The reporting tool catalogues a picture of the violation. The Impero Software provides the functionality of a classroom monitoring system.

Take the opportunity to try Impero Software and I am sure you will find an application that will benefit your network and business."

*Robbie Manning
 Burgin Independent School, Kentucky, USA*

"I am very impressed with the Impero classroom management software I feel that it is one of our greatest tools here in our program. As a principal I am at ease with the amount of control that our teachers have over the content that the students can access. The product is simple for the teachers to understand and the support that I have encountered with the company is outstanding. I believe that the implementation and use of this product has drastically enhanced the value of our students education, gone are the days of students wasting time playing useless games, and accessing sites that have no educational value. With Impero teachers have total control of their classroom, and their instruction is superior plus student's achievement has improved. In a program that services at risk students that can be easily distracted this software is indispensable."

"The thing I like best about Impero is the ability to take control of lab computers. I use this feature during faculty meetings when I train teachers. I also use it with students when I demonstrate things in the lab. I use Impero to "send files" and websites to students and teachers. I also like the ability to "monitor" our computer labs from my office. The ability to block the internet and lock computers temporarily is a plus as well. I would recommend Impero to any school looking for lab controlling software."

*Brian Gover
 Technology Resource Teacher
 Bate Middle School, Danville, Kentucky, USA*

"YES! I use it everyday and love it! Here is what I use it for:

- Sending a file to one or many students:
 Whether it is make-up or work or a worksheet, sending the file is often quicker and easier than email or the like. Plus it helps us stay green when we don't have to print as much.
- Demonstrations:
 Not only do students respond better to having demonstrations being broadcasts right to their screens rather than the projector, it also helps students with visual problems see things more close up. I try to do the demonstrating less and allow the students demonstrate to each other. The option to pass control is great for having students work together to solve problems.
- Broadcasting school news:
 We have a laptop connected to the school tv network downstairs from my room. Before, I would have to go down there between classes to start the morning news. With Impero I can take control from my classroom.
- Impromptu Questions:
 After covering material, a quick spot check is dead simple by asking questions through Impero.
- Shutting down and turning on computers:
 Being able to shut down and start up all of the computers in the morning and end of the day is GREAT!"

See what some of our existing customers think of Impero:

"Being a school district, we had looked at several solutions to better manage our workstations and student activity. Moving to Impero has provided just that. We are now replacing our former classroom management solution with Impero.

Accro offers great technical support for their product as well. Being in the IT industry for over 10 years, this is the best classroom management product I have seen yet. I highly recommend Impero Software."

"Impero is a very powerful classroom and network management tool. It has empowered our teachers and lab managers to take back control of their labs and keep students on task. With Impero our instructors are able to control access to the resources the students need for the current assignment. As a network administrator I now have a centralized log to view. Before Impero I had to comb through multiple logs and write custom scripts to log information that was needed to troubleshoot and investigate various activities that took place on our network."

Jerrold Graybeal
 Computer Operations Supervisor
 Grayson County Schools, Kentucky, USA

"Impero is a definite time saver and superior lab management software. The software allows me to worry less about what the students are trying to hide and focus 100% on teaching.

The software has worked well for in class presentations, no longer do students have to strain to see what is being presented by another student using just a projector now they see it on each computer screen. The ability to talk with students about their work has opened my eyes to some students that were afraid to ask questions but using the chat feature they ask questions and have improved their work drastically."

Justin Smith

This is the best software of its type I have ever encountered!

"Impero Software should be in every school system. Today students are more advanced in technology than most teachers, however, with Impero Software teachers control the learning environment. The software enables you to instruct, monitor and even chat all in real time. I have seen the benefits in our small school setting, I know it would be even more beneficial in a larger setting."

J.J. Everage
 Paris Middle School
 Paris, Kentucky, USA

"This is the best software of its type I have ever encountered. It is easy to set up, a breeze to deploy and absolutely rock solid in operation. I have looked at and used a number of the competitors offerings but for pure power, value for money and ease of use this annihilates the competition. Teachers at ISCCB are over the moon with the level of control and management Impero gives them in the classroom.

I can, and will, heartily recommend Impero to anyone who needs to easily manage their IT suites and internet access."

"Impero is a definite time saver and superior lab management software. The software allows me to worry less about what the students are trying to hide and focus 100% on teaching. At the end of the day I can review the log file and see what is being accessed and update policies and create new ones as needed to help direct my class in a positive direction. The software has worked well for in class presentations, no longer do students have to strain to see what is being presented by another student using just a projector now they see it on each computer screen. The ability to talk with students about their work has opened my eyes to some students that were afraid to ask questions but using the chat feature they ask questions and have improved their work drastically."

"We evaluated most classroom management products available on the market before making a decision on which one to buy. However only Impero was realistically affordable to us as a medium sized school, not only in terms of purchase price but also ongoing support costs. Deciding to buy Impero was not a cost compromise, it outshone it's rivals in every department and offered additional functionality too. Try it and see"
